

Executive Committee Vetos Proposed Point System

College Seniors Will Observe Senior Day

Next Monday and Tuesday from noon to noon will be donated to the Senior Class as they celebrate the annual Senior Day held here. The class will participate in many activities that have been planned by the Senior Day committee under the direction of Framp Harper, class president.

Registration will begin at 8:00 a. m. on Monday in front of the Student Canteen where Seniors must obtain their "I Am a Senior" cards.

At 1:30 Monday, Seniors will begin working on the class project which consists of painting the entrance signs to the campus on the highways. The C & R Shop is helping with this, and they will furnish the necessary equipment and transportation. This project was adopted at a recent Senior Day Committee meeting.

At 3:00, all seniors are invited to the Memorial Stadium where recreation and field events will be held. Prizes for the various contests have been furnished by merchants in the surrounding towns and will be awarded to the winners of the different contests.

The events that have been scheduled will include a tug of war, three legged races, clothes off and on race, relay races, greased pole climbing, and other things including a mystery event that will be announced that afternoon.

Starting at 5:30, barbecue supper will be served to all seniors, their dates or wives, and members of the faculty. F. K. Eaves of Elberton, Georgia, will prepare the supper which has been arranged by Luther Fields and staff. Supper will be served at the far end of the stadium next to the football dressing rooms.

After supper, the Jungaleers will play for an informal dance to be held in the Field House from 8:00 to 12:00. Members of the faculty and their wives are invited, and seniors are urged to bring their wives or dates. A few girls have been invited from nearby colleges and nurse's homes.

Boscobel is reserved for all seniors Tuesday morning. Golfing and swimming may be obtained free by the mere procurement of a ticket at the Registration booth Monday morning. Seniors will be admitted free to the Clemson Theatre by picking up their tickets at the registration booth.

All students in line for graduation in June and August of 1955 and January 1956 are eligible for participation in the activities of Senior Day, provided they have applied for their diplomas and have had their rec-

Clemson 4-H Club Elects New Staff

The Clemson 4-H Club, in their last meeting, elected officers for the coming year. Officers to serve the club next year are: Billy Joe Bailes, dairy-ing sophomore of Union, was elected president; Don B. Still, agriculture sophomore of Blacksburg, was named vice president; the new secretary is James T. Ligon, agricultural engineering sophomore of Easley and serving as treasurer is F. Graham Pritchard, agricultural engineering freshman from Sumter.

Also, Leon O. Clayton, State Boy's 4-H Club Agent; Dr. W. A. King, Faculty Advisor; M. Howard Thomas, vocational agricultural sophomore of Marion, sergeant-at-arms; and John W. Parris, agronomy freshman from Campobello, reporter.

The new officers and committees are to meet Thursday night to make plans for the coming year. There are more than 400 former 4-H Club boys now enrolled here at Clemson.

Laurie Farr Elected Miss TAPS For 1955

Miss Laurie Farr, from the University of South Carolina and Columbia, S. C., was named to the top position in the Clemson College yearbook this term by being picked as "Miss 1955 TAPS".

Her selection and the names of six other TAPS beauties were revealed Friday night during the TAPS Junior-Senior Dance.

Other girls whose pictures will appear in the beauty section of the yearbook, which is expected to be off the press in the next couple of weeks, are: Miss Alice Howard, Clemson, Converse College; Miss Barbara Mahaffie, Greenville, Winthrop College; Miss Shirley McMillan, Latta, Converse College; Miss Nancy Smith, Toccoa, University of Georgia; Miss Rita Price, Columbia, Columbia College; and Miss Carolyn Boatwright, Aiken.

Ralph Cureton Elected President Of Central Dance Association For The Next School Year

Marion Sams Named Vice-President;
Bruce Cannon New Secretary-Treasurer

On Monday evening, May 9, the Central Dance Association elected its senior staff of officers for the coming year. These officers will be in charge of all Clemson dances for the 1955-1956 school year.

Chosen as president of the association, replacing George U. Bennett, outgoing president, is Ginger Cureton, arts and sciences junior from Columbia. Replacing Bob Tarleton, this year's vice president, is Marion W. Sams, agricultural engineering junior from Walterboro.

Secretary-treasurer of C. D. A. is Bruce Cannon, civil engineering junior from Clemson who takes the post formerly occupied by Don Harrison. Charlie Ferguson, this year's placing chairman, is relinquishing his position in favor of Albert B. Blanton, Jr., a textile manufacturing junior from Forest City, North Carolina.

Lynn Hendricks, textile engineering junior from Columbia, replaces Joe Tinsley as floor chairman, while decorations chairman Powers McElveen, an architecture junior from Columbia takes up the work of Bill Turner, outgoing chairman. Carl Pate, textile manufacturing junior from Bennettsville, was elected alternus, replacing George Auld.

The improvement of the individual is to be based on the following aspects: character, leadership, disposition, initiative, technical ability and personal characteristics.

Wiggins Elected New President Of Dairy Club

At a recent meeting of the Dairy Club, elections for next year's officers were held. The officers were Bennie Wiggins, a senior from Hopkins, S. C., president; W. J. Bailes, a junior from Union, vice president; and Dixon D. Lee, a junior from Dillon, S. C., secretary-treasurer.

At this meeting, the club established a Dairy Club Annual Award, which will be made annually to a dairy student in his senior year who has shown the greatest improvement in his work while at Clemson.

The improvement of the individual is to be based on the following aspects: character, leadership, disposition, initiative, technical ability and personal characteristics.

Alpha Psi Omega Elects Officers

In its weekly meeting in the club rehearsal room, Kappa Psi cast of Alpha Psi Omega, national dramatics fraternity, elected officers for the coming year.

Bill Muzzey, civil engineering senior from Philadelphia, Pennsylvania, was re-elected president of the club. Chosen as vice president was Peter Peck, civil engineering senior from Vero Beach, Florida.

James O'Hear, architecture junior from Charleston was chosen business manager, and Munford Fuller, architecture junior from Florence was elected historian. Cliff Arbery, architecture junior from Garnett, S. C., was named entertainment chairman.

A report was given by the nominating committee with regards to pledges soon to be installed as members. The following were invited to membership: Larry Brown, Shirley Hase, Malcolm Scolve, Clifford Arbery, Bill McMillan, Buddy Hoover, Reid Patrick, Woody Middleton, and Bobbie Feeley. Initiation plans were set for the near future.

NOTICE

The Clemson Aero Club raffle drawing will be postponed until Thursday, May 19. The drawing will be held in the Chemistry Auditorium at 6:30. The Clemson Aero Club will have a meeting on Thursday. All members not present will be dropped from the roll.

Resolution To Go Back To Assembly

In a meeting of the Student Assembly last Wednesday night, the proposed point system was adopted by the legislative body. The Executive Committee of the Student Body, which met on Monday night, vetoed the measure.

Blue Key Elects New Officers

The Clemson Chapter of Blue Key, national service fraternity, recently elected officers for 1955-56. Heading the organization for next year is Lynn A. Hendricks, textile engineering junior from Columbia.

Other elected officers were: J. Donald King, pre-medicine junior from Anderson, vice president; Dick Swetenburg, textile engineering junior from Anderson, secretary.

Chosen as co-editors of the Blue Key Directory, student handbook, are Connie Faucette, arts and sciences junior from Columbia, Albert B. Blanton, textile manufacturing junior from Forest City, North Carolina, and Gene Metz, architectural engineering junior from Anderson.

Bill Hood, pre-medicine junior from Hickory Grove, N. C., was elected corresponding secretary, and Joe Bowen, arts and sciences junior of Villa Rica, Georgia, was chosen alumni secretary.

Gamma Kappa Alpha Elects New Officers

Gamma Kappa Alpha, North Carolina club, recently elected new officers for next year. They also named Captain Gray Adams, Air Force instructor, as the advisor again for next year.

Sunday Films To Be Shown

On Sunday afternoon, two films will be shown in the Chemistry Building Auditorium at 3:30 p. m. The name of the first film is "Hands Across the Ocean" and deals with history's first international ocean command, an integrated sea, air, and land force, made up of officers from the NATO countries. The film is one of the "Armed Forces Films" issued by the Department of Defense.

The other film, "Story of Modern Roses," is a Kodachrome film released by the National Film Service. Both films are sponsored by the Clemson Unitarian Fellowship.

The point system, under consideration for several weeks by the Assembly, was adopted by 17-5 vote of the group present at the meeting. Several representatives made speeches for and against the proposed system before the vote was taken.

A motion that the system be accepted and that it go into effect on the first day of next year and all clubs submit rolls to the Student Assembly by the first week in October was made. A motion to table the previous motion was defeated and Key's motion was passed.

It was decided that a club violating the point system by permitting a member to hold over the required number of points have its charter revoked. A committee within the Student Assembly was set up to review club memberships and to punish offenders. Several of the members argued that the activities at Clemson were in the hands of a "faithful few" who hold all of the offices of any importance.

It was suggested that this point system might encourage more people to take part in activities and at the same time keep one person from "exceeding his capabilities." The motion to accept the system was made and the point system was approved as drawn up by a committee headed by Bennie Wiggins.

In a meeting Monday night, the Executive Committee of the Student Government Association unanimously voted to veto the proposed point system. The unanimous vote came after nearly an hour of deliberation and consideration on the part of the Executive Committee.

The Committee, consisting of student body officers and the presidents of the four respective classes, read and debated the point system. Several objections to the system were raised by the committee.

It was suggested that the present point system does not encompass enough fields of work in equal proportions. For example, the committee stated, athletics and military were excluded from the proposed system and these each require a great deal of work on the part

Thirty-Three Awards Presented To Army And Air Force Cadets During Impressive Mother's Day Ceremonies Here

Thirty-three medals were awarded here Sunday afternoon to outstanding Army and Air Force ROTC cadets at the annual Mother's Day celebration on the Clemson campus.

During the same regimental review, Mrs. Corrine Cox Tanner of Kingstree was honored as Clemson's "Mother of the Year", and Miss Topsy McLean of Gastonia, N. C., and a student at Breneau College in Gainesville, Ga., reviewed the corps of cadets as the honorary cadet colonel.

In the reviewing line with the Clemson mother and the honorary colonel were R. F. Poole, president of Clemson; Maj. Gen. Derrill M. Daniel, Ft. Bragg, N. C.; Brig. Gen. Richard J. Werner, Atlanta, Ga.; Brig. Gen. J. Strom Thurmond, Washington, D. C.; Brig. Gen. Robert M. Jones, Clemson; Capt. Frank J. Jervey, president of the Clemson Alumni Corps; and Col. Lloyd H. Tull, commandant of cadets.

Also, Col. George A. Douglass, professor of military science and tactics; Miss Carolyn Hawkins, Lincolnton, N. C., honorary cadet sergeant; Miss Ann Moseley, Columbia, honorary cadet corporal; and Miss Harriett Johnson, North Augusta, honorary cadet private.

The following medals were awarded: Augustus Shanklin Prize—awarded to Cadet Capt. Thomas C. Drew Jr., of Gaffney, as the cadet in ROTC, Army or Air Force, having a high scholastic rating and possessing qualities of character and leadership.

Armed Forces Communications and Electronics Association Honor Award—awarded to Cadet Capt. Thomas C. Drew, Gaffney, as the outstanding Air Force ROTC senior pursuing electrical engineering as his major course.

Association of the United States Army Medal—awarded to Cadet Col. David Morris of Shelby, N. C., as the outstanding Army ROTC cadet of the June 1955 graduating class.

ROTC Gold Medal of the Society of American Military Engineers—awarded to Cadet Col. David Morris of Shelby, N. C., as the outstanding senior engineering student of the advanced engineer officers training unit at Clemson.

Association of the United States Army Medal—awarded to Cadet Lt. Col. Charles H. Ferguson of Great Falls, as the outstanding infantry ROTC cadet of the June 1955 graduating class.

U. S. Armor Association Engraved Scroll and the Armor

Medal—awarded to Cadet Maj. John R. Underwood of Walhalla, selected as the outstanding cadet enrolled in armor second year advanced ROTC.

Quartermaster Association Award—awarded to Cadet Maj. Wildon Hooks of Gallivan's Ferry, as the outstanding senior quartermaster ROTC cadet.

American Ordnance Association Award—awarded to Cadet Capt. Whitten E. Little of Myrtle Beach, as the outstanding student in the advanced ordnance ROTC.

Armed Forces Communications and Electronics Honor Award—awarded to Cadet First Lt. Elton M. Calder of Savannah, Ga., as the outstanding Army ROTC senior pursuing electrical engineering as his major course.

Republic Aviation Corporation Award—awarded to Cadet 1/Lt.

Senior Day Resolutions

1. Any property destroyed will result in expulsion.
2. Disorderly conduct in barracks or on campus will bring expulsion. This includes downtown Clemson and surrounding areas.
3. Men will be held personally responsible to the Senior Class for property damage.
4. Any tampering with college property or equipment will bring expulsion.
5. Any underclassman taking part in any Senior Day activity will be expelled.
6. Senior Class accepts full responsibility for planning Senior Day and for the conduct of all students and the punishment of any violators. In accepting this responsibility, the Senior Class alone will have the authority to turn in violators.
7. Any act against the betterment of Senior Day and not covered in the above regulations will result in expulsion.

Have A Big Time Seniors

NEXT Monday beginning at noon and continuing through Tuesday at noon, the seniors will have their last big fling together as they take part in the annual Senior Day held for all seniors. Many activities have been planned such as projects, games, dances, and swimming, and all of these should serve to keep the participants very busy.

A few years ago, there was considerable trouble on Senior Day. Everyone in the school had what they thought was a good time and everyone enjoyed themselves immensely. But the results of that Senior Day has cast a reflection ahead for each successive senior class.

This day is set aside for seniors only and no one else is invited or wanted to participate in the activities. We hope the seniors have a good time, but remember not to hurt yourself or the school.

Is Point System Fair?

LAST Monday night, the executive committee of the student government brought minds and level-headed thinking into use as they vetoed the proposed point system that was passed by the Student Assembly.

The committee recommended that the point system be sent back to the Student Assembly and that they rewrite it completely. Nothing could have been any smarter.

If anyone has taken the time to really look at the point system, they will realize that the student assembly is trying to limit one group of students and letting the others run wild.

The reason given for not assessing points to athletics and military was that the student government could not enforce these measures. They could enforce the rest by taking a club's charter away from it that did not obey the rules. So that means that the student assembly is simply turning its back on some things while cracking down unmercifully on the rest. In plain language this is dirty politics and dictatorship. The student assembly is not interested in making the system equal to all. They only want to dictate to a few.

If anyone will talk to a member of the assembly and point out these facts, he will simply shrug his shoulders. They do not know what they are doing and are being swayed by a few who cannot see the harm that they will do. The point system is basically a good idea. Limiting a person to a certain number of outside activities will doubtless prove to be a blessing in the long run. But if it is passed as it is now written, there is no doubt but what the student assembly has become a group of dictators intent on curbing a few and letting the vast majority go free.

SUMER IS ICUMEN IN

Summer is icumen in; Lhude sing cucu!

Thus, as every schoolboy knows, begins T. S. Eliot's immortal Hiawatha. And no wonder "The Boy Orator of the Platte" (as T. S. Eliot is commonly called) was moved to pen such light-hearted lines! For summer (or the "vernal equinox" as it is frequently referred to) is the happiest season of the year, mild and balmy and contented-making.

Which brings us, of course, to Philip Morris Cigarettes. They, too, are mild and balmy and contented-making. But that is not all. They are also genial, placid, and amiable. But that is still not all. They are, moreover, smooth, pacific, and lenient. But hold! There is more. They are, in addition, tranquillizing, clement, and dulcet.

Indeed the list could go on and on, until every adjective is exhausted that would describe the mildness of Philip Morris, the subtlety of their blending, the delicacy of their flavor. What more perfect companion could be found to a summer's day? What more apt complement to a summer's night?

If you have been pleased with Philip Morris through the winter and spring—as who has not who has a taste bud left in his head?—you will find your pleasure compounded, your enjoyment trebled, when you smoke Philip Morris in the warm and joyous months before you.

My own plans for the summer (except that I will smoke Philip Morris through all my waking hours) are still vague. I have been invited to attend a writers conference, but I don't think I'll accept. I've been attending writers conferences for years, and I always have a perfectly rotten time. The trouble is that Alexandre Dumas and Harriet Beecher Stowe are always there. Not that I have anything against these two swell kids; it's just that it breaks my heart to see them. They're so in love—so terribly devoted and so hopelessly! Dumas will never divorce Jane Eyre while she is with Peary at the North Pole, and Miss Stowe has long since repudiated getting her release from the Pittsburgh Pirates. So hand in hand, brave and forlorn, they go from writers conference to writers conference while Dumas works on his monumental Stover at Yale.

No, thank you, I'll do without writers conferences this summer. I think instead I'll try to improve my fishing. As Isaac Walton once said, "No man is born an artist or an angler." I often turn to the works of Walton (or "The Fordham Flash" as he is familiarly called) when I am searching for a choice aphorism. In fact, I told him so when we met some years ago at a writers conference. Walton was accompanied, as always, by Henrik Ibsen (or "The Pearl of the Pacific" as he is known as). They—Ibsen ("The Pearl of the Pacific") and Walton ("The Fordham Flash")—were collaborating on Mister Roberts at the time, but they fell to quarreling and abandoned the project and the world, as a consequence, was deprived of a truly robust and entertaining comedy.

It is not uncommon, I must say, for writers to fall into dispute. They are, after all, a sensitive and high-strung lot. I'll never forget what William Makepeace Thackeray (or "The Body" as he was universally called) once said to me. "You show me a good writer," said Thackeray, "and I'll steal his wife."

Well, as I was saying, I think I'll give writers conferences a miss this summer, and I recommend that you do the same. Why don't you just take it easy? Swim and fish and sail and smoke and read and sleep and tan your lithe young limbs. I want the best for you because—if I may get a little misty in this, my final column of the year—I think you should know that it's been real kicks for me, delivering this nonsense to you each week.

And in conclusion let me state what Jane Austen (or "Old 64-40 or Fight" as she is called the world over) once said to me. "Nothing is so precious as friendship," she said, "and the richest man in the world is the one with the most money."

DON'T GET ME WRONG BUT

Elliott Lawrence Dreamiest Music Yet... Let's Look For Link Sites At Clemson College

By Frank Anderson

—ABOUT THE BYLINE

Last week some of you might have noticed that there was no name heading this column. Contrary to what some of you may believe, it was not a mistake on my part nor was it a printer's error. It was my own desire for my name not to appear on this column last week. It seems that certain opinionated paragraphs appeared here and were cut. I have the idea that if what I want to appear under my name is not printed, then it is not my column. Hence, if my name does not appear on this column, something has been cut out of it.

The above paragraph is simply an explanation to some who might have gotten the wrong idea last week.

—STEAKS, SWEAT, AND PART-E-E-S

Those of you who have for some unknown reason recovered from this past week-end probably realize by this time that it was fabulous. The rest of us are still in a daze from the continuous party which began at noon on Friday and perhaps has not ended yet.

The dance I think was better than all expectations. Elliott Lawrence played some of the most danceable music we've heard all year. The thing that made the dance, however, was the crowd. Everybody was out for a good time and I think we accomplished this.

One thing was proven. The only place to have a dance is in the dining hall. We all thought this when we moved up for Mid-Winters, but after the comparison Friday and Saturday nights the point was driven home a little farther. I'm not saying the dance Friday night wasn't as good as the informal Saturday night affair. The location was just better.

—OUR BEAUTIFUL (?) CAMPUS

I would like to pass out a compliment to the C & R Shop as to the way the campus looked this past week-end. Comments on the beautiful campus were running freely through the large Mother's Day crowd.

This brings up another question. Why can't the college workmen keep the grounds looking as good all the time instead of just once a year?

During the past few weeks there seemed to have been an added amount of incentive connected with beautifying the grounds. One student commented, "Maybe they are trying to earn a year's salary all at one time."

I agreed. The campus should look good for our visitors, but why give false impressions? Remember, we are the ones paying to go to school. Why don't they try to impress us for a change?

—NEEDED: ONE GOLF COURSE

It may be that they think that golf is a game played only at big universities or they may think we don't have time for the game, but in both cases they are wrong.

Interest in golf here at Clemson has taken a big jump in the past few years. A surprising percentage of the students have taken up the game, necessitating a course of our own.

There are many places near the campus that could easily be developed into a fine nine hole golf course. Many years ago there used to be one situated on the hills surrounding the reservoir. Why not reclaim this land for the same purpose?

—ODDS AND ENDS

Orchids of the week go to the non-ROTC students on the top floor of A Section for the courageous manner in which they fought the recent fire down town.

—OVERHEARD

"When are they going to paint those poles along the sidewalk going to Riggs Hall yellow?"

"Federal inspection sure was a farce." "I didn't flake out, I just went to sleep."

TALK OF THE TOWN

Dance Weekend One Of Most Fabulous Senior Day Is Coming Up; Don't Go Wild

By Charles Sanders

WHAT A WEEK-END...

"Man, am I bushed?" This remark, or some more weary version of it, stands a good chance of being the thought-most-often-expressed-on-campus this week. After the Junior-Senior, Mother's Day and Spring Inspection it's almost a relief to return to classes and get some sleep.

For the juniors and seniors the banquet really started off the weekend on a hilarious note. Mr. Rushton, the speaker, seemed to like the college, and the college certainly took to him. It's not surprising that no one decided to cut the speech this year, once it got started; the man from Jacksonville had a fine repertoire of attention-holding jokes, and before it was generally realized, he had slipped in a good piece of serious talking, too. Those helpful bits of advice "from the older generation" are quite a lot easier to absorb when they're coated with a little spice like they were last Friday night.

From all the reports received, it seems the CDA was well pleased with the turnout for the dances. Can't say that I blame them; the more the people, the more the party, both for them and for us. What with wearing shorts and shagging to the beat of the beguine, the dances were the most.

Thanks to the Weather Control Board of the school (the select group of witchcraftsmen who usually send us temperatures below freezing when the cadet corps goes into summer uniform), the weather for Mother's Day was perfect. Could have been a little cooler, perhaps, but the heat always gives those unsung heroes, MP's, the chance to show off their proficiency with the stretcher. According to the official estimates, about 12,000 visitors showed up to enjoy the Clemson weather Sunday and to look over all the new buildings adorning the campus. If it has done nothing else, the recent construction has certainly added a note of pride to the voices of students taking visitors around the school.

PEST CONTROL

A round of thanks should be extended to those around the campus who helped to curb the infestation of litter-bugs over the past week-end. Though I didn't see it myself, I heard that the college help and some of the cooperative picnickers made sure the picnic area was returned to its vernal green after dinner Sunday, instead of leaving it spotted with discarded paper.

Another clean-up job, which was somewhat more noticeable to the casual stroller-about-campus, was the removal of the debris from Bowman Field after the big parade. Several out-of-town newspapers were enjoying wide distribution over the grass in the evening wind at the close of the week-end, but by inspection time Tuesday the field was green once more. This was rather a nice thing; the restful color was quite in harmony with the observed sleepiness of some of the students walking on the field that morning.

LIVE IT UP, MEN (BUT QUIETLY)

The last of the hootin', hollerin' holidays for this year's Seniors is almost upon us. Between noon of next Monday and the meridian of the day following (which in all likelihood will be Tuesday), the men who are hopeful of graduating from this institution in the near future, will have a day of class cuts and almost unrestrained rejoicing. Once again the college will prohibit such good-humored pranks as flooding the dorms, plowing up college property, and tearing down the weaker of the campus buildings, but in spite of this a merry time should be had by all. The class officers and their committees are planning recreation with which to while away the hours, and the dour expressions on the faces of the professors who are not going to be able to give quizzes on Tuesday morning are a source of great amusement.

Rather than attempt a lecture, I'd like to pass along the words of a friend who has survived nearly four years at Clemson. "This is the last time that the Seniors can really live it up at a campus party," he said. "May they have fun, and may the eternal preachers realize that these men are Seniors and don't have to be told so many times what is right and what is wrong—we hope."

HEARD ABOUT TOWN

"What in the world is the point system?" "When are the new TAPS going to be out?"

"What happened to supper on Sunday?" "Why did the fire department use water on the blaze downtown? They could have done a better job of putting out the fire with gasoline."

"Why not let the fire department boys water Bowman Field so that they can get some practice using the fire hoses? Once they learn how, we could set fire to the physics building and let them fight a real fire."

Vets Corner

Q. I am going to school under the Korean GI Bill. As a member of the organized reserves, I am called to active training duty for brief periods of time. Will my GI allowance stop when I interrupt my schooling for training duty?

A. Your allowance will not be discontinued, so long as it is the practice of your school to grant exemptions for these periods without requiring formal interruption of your training.

A. A friend of mine, paralyzed during Korean military service, is eligible for a "wheelchair housing" grant from VA. If he gets this grant, will he also be entitled to a GI home loan to finance the remainder of the cost?

A. Yes. His "wheelchair housing" grant will not deprive him of his right to apply for a GI loan to finance as much of the remainder of the cost as can be financed in that manner.

Q. I understand a veteran needs at least 90 days of active service to qualify for a GI loan.

I entered service January 3, 1953, and therefore I wasn't able to build up 90 days by the January 31, 1955 deadline date for building up entitlement to wartime benefits. Am I out of luck, so far as a loan is concerned?

A. Not necessarily. Generally you need at least 90 days total service to qualify for a GI loan, but not all 90 days need be before January 31, 1955. So long as at least part of your 90 days comes before January 31, you may be eligible, after your discharge.

Q. Would it be possible for a veteran to receive Public Law 16 training if he has a service-connected disability not severe enough to warrant any payment of compensation?

A. No. One of the legal requirements for Public Law 16 is a compensable service-connected disability. Another requirement is a need for training to overcome the handicap of the disability.

Q. Is there a "ceiling" on combined wages and GI allowance for veterans taking on-the-job training under the Korean GI Bill?

A. Yes; the "ceiling" applies only to on-the-job trainees under the Korean GI Bill. It does not apply to veterans in other types of training. The "ceiling" is $310 a month. When training wages and GI allowance together exceed that amount, the GI allowance will be cut to bring the total within the $310 maximum.

Letters To Tom Clemson

Dear Tom,
I recently heard one of the finest comments I had ever heard about the student body at Clemson. As Mr. J. Frank Rushon, speaker at the Junior Senior banquet, was leaving the campus Saturday, he remarked, "This is one of the friendliest, most well-mannered and well-dressed groups of college students I have ever seen." Mr. Rushon has traveled widely and has had the opportunity to observe many college students. So, I feel that this is a fine tribute to Clemson, and should not go unnoticed.

Tom, I would like to take this opportunity to express my appreciation to the many people who have helped so much to make a successful year for the Junior Class. To those who worked on the Junior Class "Folies of '55", making it both an enjoyable production and a financial success; to those who helped with the many tasks required to put on this year's Junior Senior banquet, and to all the business establishments at Clemson who aided us through the year, I express my thanks. It has been a pleasure working with these people, without whose help this year's accomplishments would have been impossible. Clemson's student body should be commended on its willingness to support its class officers in class projects throughout the year.

On behalf of the Junior Class, I want to thank the dining hall personnel for their fine job of preparing and serving the Junior Senior banquet, and our advisor, Mr. Jack Williams, for his guidance during the year in all our projects. Finally, to everyone who helped us have a successful year, I give our thanks. Jimmie Humphries, President, Junior Class
Dear Tom:
In a few short weeks many of us will walk across our campus, a Clemson student for the last time. As we look back over the years, we see many things that we would not doubt change if we could relive these past four years. Then we stop to think and begin wondering, if we could turn back time, would we really change things?
We remember the feelings we had during our first week of school and it always brings a of those who participate in them.

A second objection was that perhaps the division of points was unfair on some of the offices listed. It was brought up that the number of points allotted to the president of the student body was 8 and the number allotted class presidents was only 4.
It was argued that class presidents, especially the junior and senior classes, should be penalized on a more equal basis with regard to the amount of work which each has to do.
It was also brought up that a certain amount of ambiguity exists in the present arrangement.
The Executive Committee recommended that the Student Assembly next year set up a committee to revise the proposed system and at that time to give it further deliberation. A two-third vote of the Student Assembly is necessary to override an Executive Committee veto.

ords checked by Miss Coker.
January candidates who have not applied for diplomas should report to Miss Coker's office by Saturday noon if they wish to have their names placed on the Senior Day eligibility list.
All Seniors have been mailed a set of resolutions governing the activities of the holiday. These resolutions, adopted by the class, must be signed by the students participating. They hold the class responsible for all actions of the class members and forbid any underclassmen to take part in any of the events, except the rising senior class officers who have been invited so that they will know how to plan Senior Day in 1952.
It is hoped that the Seniors will all turn out and take part in this year's Senior Day activities.

Clemson Places In Judging Event

The Clemson Livestock Judging Team placed third in judging hogs in the Southeastern Intercollegiate Livestock Judging Contest held at Auburn, Alabama on April 22. The team also placed sixth in sheep. Sixteen teams from Southeastern colleges competed in the contest, in which the University of Tennessee was the winner.
The Clemson team was composed of James R. Hill, George Bowen, James L. Smith, John Gentry Alexander, R. C. McDaniel, James E. Young, and A. H. Marshall. The team's coach was Professor Dale L. Handlin of the Animal Husbandry Department, and the trip was sponsored by the Block and Bridle Club.
The teams judged 12 classes of animals and gave reasons on 8 placings. The classes included breeding and market classes of hogs, sheep, and cattle.
After the contest at Auburn, the team went to Montgomery, Alabama, where they attended the Sixth National Hereford Congress, held in the Alabama Livestock Coliseum, one of the largest in the world. The arena covers almost an acre. The Congress was attended by about 1,000 cattlemen from 35 states and Canada.
Highlights of the contest were a discussion on "Research on

Dwarf Cattle, "Herd Management" and "Livestock Advertisement"

Also, a demonstration of judging live animals and carcass evaluation was given and a demonstration on herd bull and cow selection.
The team visited the Veterinary Hospital and Animal Husbandry farms at Auburn and the University of Georgia; Circle H Ranch and Racing Farms; and the North Auburn Experiment Station. Also, the team saw some registered Landrace hogs at Auburn, which has one of the few herds in this country.

Blaze Destroys Steak House

Fire of undetermined origin completely destroyed the Klutz Steak House early Tuesday morning with estimated damage to the building and equipment placed at over $40,000.
This is the second fire within two years to destroy the business. The Clemson Fire Department answered the call and played three hoses on the burning building. The blaze was brought under control around daybreak.
Many Clemson students, unable to sleep because of the heavy smoke, assisted the firemen with the hoses.
One wall of the cafe was completely covered with Clemson athletic greats and many action

Farm Exchange Student Comes From Sweden

South Carolina's first exchangee in the International Farm Youth Exchange Program this year is May-Britt Pars from Sweden. She arrived May 3 and will be in the state for three months visiting farm families.
Miss Pars, 23, is an instructor of 15 4-H Clubs with a total of 360 members in her land of Sweden. She lives with her mother, two brothers, and a sister. Their major crops are forest, grain, potatoes, hay, and some livestock. Her favorite sport is horseback riding.
After visits to Winthrop and Clemson Colleges, she is now living with the Wasson family in Laurens County for two weeks. Other counties on her itinerary include Darlington, Marion, Marlboro, Sumter, and Orangeburg. She will also visit county, district, and state 4-H Club camps and other meetings during her three months stay here.

The Student Assembly

By Newt Stall

The Student Assembly, in a meeting last Wednesday night, finally finished discussing and rehearsing the proposed point system and put it to a vote. A motion to table the vote on the system was defeated, as it was felt that the vote had been delayed long enough. The results of the vote were 17-5 in favor of the point system as it stands in its corrected form. As evidenced by the number of votes recorded the attendance was light, even though a number of non-voting visitors were present.

A motion was carried to allow the number of points a student has at the end of the present year, if it is excessive of the 16 point limit, be the maximum number of points that student may receive in the school year 1955-56. In other words, a student having 20 points at the end of this year will have a maximum number of 20 points next year. This motion was intended to keep students with excessive points from being inconvenienced as soon as the system became effective.

In a meeting Monday night the Executive Committee used its veto power to halt the point system until it is returned to the Student Assembly and passed by a two-thirds vote. This means that the system is to be examined again and reconsidered. It is the duty of every member of the assembly to be present at the meeting when this vote will be taken.

At this point I would like to break a rule I have tried to follow in this column this semester and insert a personal opinion. When a proposed student legislation is vetoed by a group as student-conscious as the Executive Committee it is my opinion that the proposal is worthy of gross reconsideration. A number of members of the Student Assembly have neglected their duty to their fellow students by not attending the meeting, and a number of students have neglected to make their opinions known. The point system is of importance to almost everyone, yet few have shown genuine interest in the outcome.

As the point system comes up again let's all make our voice heard. It is entirely possible that if enough people want a vote of the student body the fate of the point system will be left in everyone's hands. As a final thought I should like to ask you a question. Have you really investigated the point system? Do you know what you are for or against? Do you understand how the system will affect you?

BASEBALL SEASON'S EARS END

As the end of the 1955 baseball season rolls around with only one more game left to play, we find that the Tigers haven't done so bad even though they have lost the last few games. The boys have done well under the guidance of Coach Bob Smith as they have racked up seven wins of the seventeen scheduled games.

The schedule has been rough, including teams of the ACC such as Duke, Maryland and University of North Carolina. Wake Forest is on top in the Atlantic Coast Conference while North Carolina State holds the second place berth.

While handing out laurels, I should like to mention the two managers of the Tiger team. They are Johnny Preshler and Jerry Jackson. Both have worked doggedly at their tasks and have kept things around the bench straight. This is Johnny's last year at Clemson, while Jerry has two more.

SWIMMING AGAIN

Coach McHugh has called out the tanksters for spring training before the regular season next year. Yesterday the boys went down to the Y pool to begin tryouts. Even though there are only two swimmers leaving the team, there are always places for new-comers. Coach McHugh and the 1954-55 team did a wonderful job. The coming season is expected to do as well. The team is hurting for divers with only one diver participating in the events during the past year. McHugh wants any interested boys to come down to the Y at four o'clock and try out.

FINALE OF GOLF SEASON

The final showing of this spring's golf teams of the ACC is to be held in Winston-Salem, N. C., Thursday, Friday and Saturday of this week. All of the teams will meet in hopes of capturing the crown. The golf team would appreciate any support that could be had up in Winston-Salem. Get a car load up and make the trip. I'm sure that it will be interesting to watch the Tiger golfers in action.

SATURDAY WINDS UP BASEBALL FOR TIGERS

This Saturday the Clemson Tigers will take the field for the last time during the scheduled season. Here's hoping that the end will be pleasant. Furman University will come over to see what they can do with the Tigers. Besides bringing a baseball team there will probably be a host of Furman rooters. So far this year there has been no overwhelming support given to the boys who are trying to bring the Clemson team to the top. Saturday will be a great chance to prove to the boys that they are appreciated. Even if we have been losing a few games there is no reason to lose faith. If you haven't seen the boys in action, go down to the diamond Saturday afternoon and have a seat. If you have been following the Tigers there will be a seat for you, too. There couldn't be a better way to spend a Saturday afternoon.

BASKETBALL TOURNAMENT

The Clemson basketball team will make its first appearance in the annual Senior Bowl Classic next Jan. 4-5. The boys will go out to Alabama just before the Senior Bowl football game and make their debut in this basketball classic. Next season the hardwood boys will have something to throw at the best of them. Besides the Clemson team in the basketball game there will probably be a player or two in the football classic.

PRE-SEASON BASKETBALL GAME

Don't forget the basketball game to be played tonight over at the field house. Banks McFaddin will match the Orange against the White and find out exactly what the Tigers will have for the 1955-56 basketball team. Right now there are very good prospects of a crack team to floor against the ACC teams next year. With Bill Yarborough and help from this year's freshman team the Tigers are destined to go far places. Bill was fourth in the nation in points scored per game. Coach McFaddin wants everybody to come over and enjoy the game. This is the first of the games of this sort in some years because in the past there has been no interest in an intra-squad game, but Coach McFaddin is optimistic as to the possibilities of the team and wants to have a preview of their play. Turn out, won't you.

MISUNDERSTANDING

Last week I ran a short piece about wrestling. Someone misunderstood what I was driving at and thought that I had challenged anybody to a match. If this is what it takes to stir up interest in a wrestling team, I will. So far there has been no one up to the Tiger office to support the idea that Clemson should have a wrestling team, even though several people have approached me on the campus.

Tarheels Trounce Tigers In Baseball Game On Saturday

The Clemson baseball team took a defeat at the hands of the North Carolina squad last Saturday afternoon here at Clemson. Playing heads up ball the Tar Heels shut off two Clemson ninth inning runs to clinch the ACC game 11-8.

Clemson opened the game by scoring several runs in the early innings, but gave up their lead in the top of the eighth, but worked hard to narrow the margin again in the bottom of the same inning. The Tar Heels insured their lead by scoring two more runs in the top of the ninth.

Again in the bottom of the last inning the Tigers threatened strongly when both Jim Coleman and Jim O'Quinn singled. Jim Templeton pinch hit for Dick Swetenburg, but lost the chance for a tied up ball game when the North Carolina left fielder backed against the hedges to snag a long fly ball.

Bill Barnett homered, doubled and singled, driving in three runs for Clemson. Zachary and Paller each drove in three runs to pace the Tar Heel batting order.

Frosh Baseballers Stop Spartanburg Junior College Team

The Clemson Freshman baseball team went on a hitting spree to down the Spartanburg Junior College 21-2 last Saturday in Spartanburg. Pitcher for the Cubs, Johnny Drake allowed only four hits to the Spartans while the Cubs collected 18 base knocks. The victory was Drakes' fourth win against one lone loss. Drake received excellent help from Dave Garrison who made seven trips to the plate and returned five base hits. Three of the five knocks were singles, one triple and one double. The Cubs have won 9 and lost 3. The frosh close the season at Atlanta Saturday when they return the Georgia visit.

Yaun Makes New Bocobel Record; ACC Match Slated

Lennard Yaun and John Woodard, both members of the Clemson golf team made the rounds of the Bocobel golf course Tuesday afternoon in 67 and 68 respectively. Leonard broke the course record of 68 while John tied as they prepared for the Atlantic Coast Conference tournament which is to take place Friday and Saturday of this week in Winston-Salem, N. C.

Both Leonard and Woodard are expected to present a fine showing in the tourney where they will face boys like Mickey Gallage of Wake Forest. Gallage has paced the Deacons this year and has also placed them into the favorite spot for the tournament.

Arnold Palmer, now in the professional circuit, was last year's champ. Leonard finished fifth last year and John finished about tenth in the 36 hole tournament.

Carolina Takes State Track Meet; Clemson Second

Clemson's thinclads scored six first places to finish a strong second to Carolina in the state track meet at Clinton last Saturday. A soft track prevented any new records although Clemson's Myles Carter tried vainly to crack the one mile standard. Myles set out to break the present record and led the field by 40 yards at the half mile mark, but the heat got the best of him and Myles missed the record by four seconds in the time of 4:31.9.

Joe Bowen captured both hurdles events to remain the outstanding hurdler in the state. Joe knocked over all ten barriers in the highs, but still finished in front.

Allston Mitchell failed again in his attempt for a new state high jump record. Allston won the event with a leap of 6'2" but missed three times at 6'4", one inch above the present mark.

Cecil Kirby remained the shot-put king of the state with a toss of 44'6" to leave his record in state competition this year unblemished. Gene Metz captured the other Tiger first with a 12'6" leap in the pole vault. Randy Abbott tied for second and Rip Folger and Mike Corrigan for fourth as the Tigers dominated this event.

The Tigers captured numerous other places to make the meet a two team duel but the Gamecocks had too much in the dashes and rolled up their advantage in these events.

Villa Rica Lad Shines On Cinder Paths For Norman

By Bill Linton

Joe Bowen, of Villa Rica, Ga., enrolled at Clemson in the fall of 1952 as an awkward, 185 pound, 17 year old tackle with no experience in track whatsoever.

In his first six meets this spring, Joe took firsts in both the 120 yard high hurdles and the 220 yard low hurdles on five of the six occasions. Georgia was the only place where Joe settled for second. His 56 points out of a possible 60 is tops on the team.

Clemson's track coach "Rock" Norman, first came in contact with Bowen on the football field in the fall of 1952. He had the big 17 year old as an end on the freshman football team. Though he came to Clemson unnoticed, he was soon playing first string ball with the freshman.

Joe concentrated on making the varsity traveling squad of the football team during the spring of his freshman year, not even trying out for track. In the fall of '53 the Clemson Tigers opened with Presbyterian where the determined Georgian was named Clemson's most valuable lineman of the week.

He saw a lot of action during the remainder of that season, earning his letter in football. Due to an injury, Joe saw only limited action the past season on the gridiron. Next year he will be back and be depended upon by Coach Howard for a fine showing.

In track, however, Bowen made his first appearance after the spring football drills last year. "He was a big, clumsy boy at first," recalls Coach Norman. "I figured he was just coming out to help build his coordination for football." As for the first time he ran the hurdles, the Clemson coach still laughs. "I can see him now with one hurdle over his shoulder and another around his neck."

Bowen accepted the challenge, however, and surprised everyone by winning the state championship in the low hurdles and placing second in the high hurdles last May.

He has already beaten P. C.'s (Continued on page 3) #

New Chesterfield Contest Announced

Dale Collins, the campus representative of Chesterfield, has announced that he will conduct a contest for the next few weeks. The last contest has been concluded and Dale wishes to begin another. The contest which just ended was made up of having a carton of Chesterfields as a prize for anyone who pick the winner of a number of baseball games each week. The present contest will consist of anyone mailing an empty cigarette package in to Dale, along with his or her entry.

The entry will be composed of a number of words, all derived from the letters CHESTERFIELD. These words must be accepted words of the English language and can be found in the Webster's Dictionary. All entries must be in to Dale Collins, Box 937, Clemson Station, Clemson, S. C., not later than May 18.

BTU Retreat At Ridgecrest

The southwide student retreat will be held at Ridgecrest, North Carolina, during the week of June 9-15 for the Southern Baptist Training Union groups. The first meeting will begin at 2:00 p. m., Thursday, June 9, and the retreat will close at noon, Wednesday, June 15.

Speakers for the retreat will be Dr. Chester Swor, Youth Speaker; Dr. Ralph Overman, physicist, Oak Ridge, Tennessee; Mr. Robert C. Norman, lawyer; Dr. Walter H. Judd, Congressman and former medical missionary to China; and Mrs. Frank H. Leavell, wife of the late Southwide B. S. U. Director.

Many activities to be held will include devotional periods, Bible study, and Christian testimonies. There will also be provided plenty of time for recreation and fellowship.

For those who plan to attend, a registration fee of $2.00 must be paid to Mr. A. B. Parsons, Jr., B. S. U. Student Director, by Friday, May 20. Further information may be obtained by calling the Baptist Church.

Clemson students will stay at the Welsh Neck Cabin at no cost, and meals may be obtained in the Dining Hall at the expense of the student. Transportation must be arranged by the individual.

Goodale Addresses Dairy Employees

"All Personnel Must Sell" was the subject of Professor B. E. Goodale, Department of Dairy- ing, in an address before a mass meeting of local dairy employees at 8:00 tonight at the Columbia High School auditorium.

This is the first of a series of three meetings sponsored jointly by the South Carolina Dairy Commission and the Distributive Education Department of the Columbia City Schools.

For the past 33 years, Professor Goodale has served on the Clemson Dairy Staff as teacher of subjects pertaining to processing of dairy products, plant management, quality control, procurement, personnel, advertising, and marketing. Having obtained B. S. and M. S. degrees from Iowa State College, he has been manager of the Clemson Dairy Plant for 31 years, and has many years experience as dairy plant consultant in the South-eastern States.

Professor Goodale is a member of the American Dairy Science Association, the American Association of Science, and the American Association of University Professors. He is listed in "American Men of Science," "Who's Who in American Education," and "Who's Who in the South and Southwest."

The two remaining programs for dairy employees are to be held on May 18 and 25 and will feature other leaders in the dairy industry.

Joe was elected president of the Tiger Brotherhood for the coming school term. He is a member of the Block C Club and ranks with the best of the athletes who have attended Clemson College.

Teams Inspect Cadet Corps

On Monday and Tuesday of this week, the Clemson College Corps of Cadets was inspected by a board of inspectors from the U. S. Army and Air Force. Air Force inspectors were Colonel Milford F. Itz, Lt. Col. Norman W. Todd, and Maj. L. D. Scholes. The Army inspection team consisted of Col. Elmer L. Knight (Infantry), Lt. Col. John D. Bradley, Jr. (Armor), Lt. Col. George N. Rankin (Ordinance), Lt. Col. Hugh N. Webb (Engineering), Maj. Gerard D. Furlong (Signal Corps) and Maj. Samuel R. Kerr and Capt. T. G. Blakeney (Quartermaster).

The inspecting teams arrived on the campus on Saturday and witnessed the military exhibits and Mothers Day Parade on Sunday. On Monday, the inspectors visited air science and military science classrooms where they observed the students.

Monday night the inspectors were treated to a party by the Clemson Army and Air Force Detachments. The Oconee Country Club was used.

On Tuesday morning, the band, Army branches and the Air Force ROTC Wing was inspected by the parties. At the close of the inspection, the teams visited Dr. R. F. Poole, president of the college and later gave their criticisms of the Clemson College Corps of Cadets.

Tig Netters Take Fleet In Tennis Match

Monday afternoon the Clemson tennis team journeyed to Due West to defeat the hapless Erskine College netmen 7-0. After returning from a bad trip north the Tiger netmen swung their way to the last victory before the ACC tournament at Chapel Hill, North Carolina Thursday, Friday, and Saturday of this week. In this match with Erskine, Aye defeated Brown 6-3, 6-0. Si defeated Barker 6-2, 6-1, while Mitchell downed King 6-2, 6-4. Wise seated Grier 6-2, 6-1 and Lander topped Anderson 8-6, 6-2.

In the doubles division Aye and Si defeated Brown and Barker 6-0, 6-2. While Mitchell and Wise downed King and Grier 6-1, 6-3.

His territory: TWO CITY BLOCKS

James O'Hara, Stevens Institute of Technology (M.E. '51), is an installation foreman for the New York Telephone Company. His present assignment is two city blocks between 45th and 47th Streets in the middle of Manhattan.

"It doesn't measure very big horizontally," Jim says. "But vertically it makes up a lot of telephone business—7500 telephones to be exact. My eight-man crew does everything from installing a single telephone to working on complete dial intercom systems for some of the nation's biggest businesses."

You'll find that most other college men with the telephone company are just as enthusiastic about their jobs. If you'd be interested in a similar opportunity with a Bell System Telephone Company—or with Sandia Corporation, Western Electric or Bell Telephone Laboratories, see your Placement Officer for full details.
